

What is Anti-Blackness?

Live online panel discussion

Wednesday, Sept. 9, 2020

6-7:30 p.m.

As we all witness civil unrest globally and in our own community, we must come together for courageous conversation about race, racism, and where to go from here.

This panel will feature the voices of a student, an educator, an activist, and a member of law enforcement who will share their experiences and knowledge to help us to understand "What is Anti-Blackness" and how we can combat it in our community.

Panelists:

Samaria Rosenthal, former KCC student

Jessica Oladapo, M.A., KCC assistant professor of sociology

Travis Miller, organizer of several local Black Lives Matter marches

Willie Hunt, City of Kankakee deputy police chief

Moderator:

Whitney Mittons, KCC coordinator of equity, diversity and inclusion

To participate:

You need an Internet connection and a computer or smartphone with video and sound capabilities. When it's time for the session, Click on this link and you'll be brought into the event!

Request the link by email: wmittons@kcc.edu

Presented by KCC Student Life and Office of Equity, Diversity & Inclusion.

Kankakee Community College
THE POWER OF COMMUNITY